DETAILED ACTION

1. The examiner of this application in the PTO has changed. To aid in correlating any papers for this application, all further correspondence regarding this application should be directed to Sharon Wen, Art Unit 1609, Technology Center 1600.

Applicant's amendments to the claims filed 12/15/2006 has been entered.

Claims 2 and 4 have been canceled.

Claims 1, 3, 5-7 are pending and currently under restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

2. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

A) Applicant is required to elect a specific antibody recited in instant claims, for example:

i) antibody against S100A8 OR

ii) antibody against S100A9.

B) Furthermore, Applicant is required to elect a specific disease recited in claim 3, (e.g. rheumatoid arthritis)

C) In addition, Applicant is required to elect a specific route of administration recited in claim 5, (e.g. intravenous).

3. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: PCT Rule 13.2 defines "special technical features" as "those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art." In addition, unity of invention has to be considered in the first place only in relation to the independent claims.

Art Unit: 1609

The feature uniting the invention is a method comprising administering an antibody against S100A8 or S100A9 protein. U.S. Patent 5,731,166 by Geczy et al. teaches a method for modulating any inflammatory response in a mammal with an antibody to S100A8 aka CP-10 (see entire document, in particular, columns 1-4). Therefore, the special technical feature does not exist in the present application.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103 (a) of the other invention.
